On the ninth of this month THE police arrested Toshio Shinada, a bus driver for THE Bus Company under suspicion of violating the Stimulants Control Law. Despite being suspected of the crime Mr Shinada has stated, "I regret nothing. When I get out [of prison] I will do it again". Those who knew the suspect have said that "He was always smiling and was very popular with customers" "I always wondered about how he kept a smile on his face no matter the circumstances but now I understand knowing that he was high" "I was very concerned about how he would never wear anything but shorts to work. Knowing that he was stoned this whole time, it makes sense.
